History of Property: The Samuel Bull Estate built in 1706 by Deacon Samuel Bull, one of the first names in Woodbury, to whom the town granted land as its first blacksmith. Located on Main Street at the South end of the village. Samuel married the only daughter of Zechariah Walker, the minister who in 1678 led the dissenters from Stratford to Woodbury.

3 & 5 Old Sherman Hill Road & 557 Main Street South Woodbury, Connecticut 06798

In 1781 soldiers of Lafayette passed through Woodbury on their way to join Washington for the siege of Yorktown. An officer, a guest in the bull house, inscribed an autograph on the window pane with his diamond ring, said to be a tribute to the daughter of Mayor Thomas Bull. This house remained as a carriage house after the building of the second home until it was torn down in 1920.

The “new” house was built in the early 1800’s by Thomas Bull, the grandson of the Mayor. Incorporated in it are parts of the old house, including the great Lye stone for making soap, the first hearthstone was added to the original kitchen. The small building to the west of the house was one of the first stores in town. Vida J. Bull

Welcome

The Inviting Firrside Keeping Room

The Country Loft B&B is situated in the heart of Woodbury, the "Antiques Capital of Connecticut." We are the perfect location for walking, jogging, biking, hiking, fishing, and of course, antiques, in one of the many antique shops that line our quaint Main Street. The B&B, dating back to 1706, was originally the home of Samuel Bull, the first blacksmith in the town of Woodbury. All rooms are custom designed in glorious, rich fabrics, beautiful tranquil colors, and wonderful authentic antiques. Upon arriving, enter into a true 18th century home, filled with tradition and old world charm.

Beauty Begins Here...

Slip away and calm your mind, body and spirit in our beautifully appointed spa-inspired bath complete with antique bathtub, full shower, and a wonderful chaise lounge. This area is large enough to accommodate your wedding party, as you may want to have your makeup and hair professionals join you here, using this romantic background for some of your treasured photographs.

The Luxurious Spa Inspired Bathroom

Additional amenities include a fitness room, complete with a treadmill, elliptical trainer, weights and yoga mats.
